

University of Dallas student selected for Museum's 2010 ExxonMobil Community Summer Jobs Program

Monica Abbracciamento, an honor roll student at the University of Dallas, has been selected to work at the Museum/Center this summer as the 2010 ExxonMobil intern. She was selected from a pool of 30 applicants to participate in the internship program.

Monica studied abroad at UD's Due Santi Campus in Rome, Italy in 2008. She will graduate in May 2011 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in History with a concentration in International Relations. Her duties at the Museum will span both development and marketing areas.

"It is our task as members of a human community, however difficult it may be at times, to examine momentous historical events with an objective and discerning state of mind," Monica wrote in an internship application essay. "The Holocaust occupies a monumental place on the timeline..."

At UD, Monica works in the Office of Undergraduate Admissions as a recruitment specialist, speaking to prospective students from across the U.S. Monica's hometown is Robbinsville, N.J. She will begin her internship on June 1. The ExxonMobil Community Summer Jobs Program provides full-time college students with an eight-week paid internship that allows them to gain experience in a wide range of nonprofit community organizations. It supports selected agencies during peak summer months and encourages nonprofit service among students viewed as community leaders of the future.
